

SUPPLEMENTARY MATERIAL

Microwave-Assisted Optimization of Platinum-Nickel Nanoalloys for Catalytic Water Treatment

Hanyu Ma, Haitao Wang, and Chongzheng Na*

Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering and Earth Sciences, University of Notre Dame, 156 Fitzpatrick Hall, Notre Dame, IN 46556

*Corresponding author. Email: chongzheng.na@gmail.com. Phone: 1-574-631-5164. Postal Address: 156 Fitzpatrick Hall, Notre Dame, IN 46556

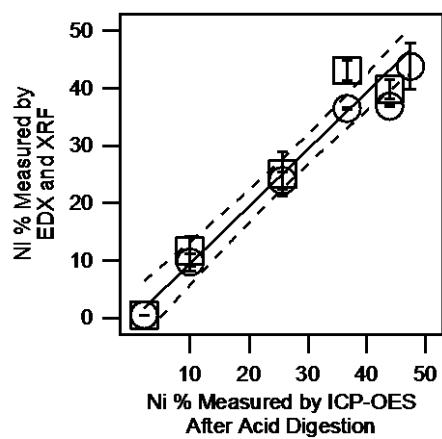

Figure S1. Confirmation of the Ni percentage measured by ICP-OES after acid digestion using EDX (squares) and XRF (circles). The solid line is a least-square regression, which has a slope of unity ($0.99(\pm 0.07)$) and a zero intercept ($0.4(\pm 2.2)$). The dashed lines bracket 95% confidence intervals.